SITP 2009, Algiers

7th International Public Works and Construction Fair

16-19 November 2009

The need for infrastructure is large in Algeria, particularly in housing and constructing new educational institutions such as schools and universities. The investments in the construction sector increased since 2005 from 38 billion to 89 billion USD. A high demand for infrastructure is also: road, rail and tram network, water supply and wastewater systems.
